

Website privacy policy

What type of information do you collect?

We do not ask visitors to provide any information on this site. The website is hosted on a platform called Wix. Wix uses cookies by default, but visitors are given the option to opt-out of this when they first view the site via a cookie banner. Wix uses essential cookies and some analytics. No specific information or personal data about visitors will be collected. If Wix cookies are permitted, we may use Wix analytics to measure and collect session information, including page response times, length of visits to certain pages, page interaction information, and methods used to browse away from the page.

How do you collect information?

If Wix cookies are permitted, when visitors browse on this website, Wix analytics are able to measure and collect session information, including page response times, length of visits to certain pages, page interaction information, and methods used to browse away from the page. They will not be able to obtain any personal information about you.

How do you use cookies and other tracking tools?

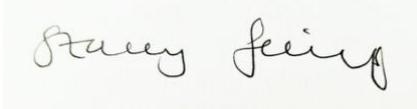

Websites built on Wix use Wix analytics by default to collect information on how the website is used. These will not collect personal information.

To learn more about cookies, please click here: <https://www.allaboutcookies.org>. To learn more about the types of cookies Wix uses, please click here <https://support.wix.com/en/article/cookies-and-your-wix-site>.

Privacy policy updates

We reserve the right to modify this privacy policy at any time, so please review it frequently. Changes and clarifications will take effect immediately upon their posting on the website. If we make material changes to this policy, we will notify you here that it has been updated, so that you are aware of what information we collect, how we use it, and under what circumstances, if any, we use and/or disclose it.

Kind regards,

Stacey Jennings
Chief Investigator